REVOLUTION FEARED IN OBREGON KILLING

Hot off the Griddle

By EMILE GAUVREAU

More than 50,000 foreign tourists will enter Russia this summer, according to the American-European Travel Bureau. The fear of spies and counter-revolutionaries is over. Russia needs friends. Travelers from what the Soviet calls out capitalist nations will see Leningrad, once St. Petersburg before the people rose in their wrath and slew an incompetent czar and his family. They will see Moscow, the Crimea, Sebastopol and cross the Black Sea and the Volga, and they will wonder why it is that America does not extend the helping hand of recognition although she permits her big business interests to trade with Russia and make all the money possible. Russia is wise in letting Americans in and permitting them to look and see.

If Americans should spend as freely in Russia as they do in France the Soviet might begin to see the good points of the capitalist system. Americans are spending in France an average of $5,000,000 a year. There are 75,000 Americans permanently residing in France and 300,000 in transit. They are all spending money and the majority of them are drawing checks on American banks. Thrifty France is pleased with the outlook and Germany looks on in envy.

Callaux, one-time prime minister of France and shrewd financier, says that the Banque de France has accumulated, during the past two years, 60,000,000 francs in foreign exchange. This huge sum amounts to approximately $2,400,000,000. Much of this is American money. According to Wall Street, France has more than $1,000,000,000 in the United States. What would happen if she withdrew this money? She drew $300,000,000 in gold from this country during the past year. And we wonder why our markets go up and down. It may be that international financiers are doing too much juggling with American gold. In the long run it is not a good thing for us.

Ever alert ship news reporters learn that Morton Hoyt, 29, a member of a well-known Washington family, jumped off the French liner Rochambeau in the middle of the ocean because a sweet little girl shipboard acquaintance dared him to do so. He was rescued more dead than alive and relatives spirited him away in a waiting motor at the pier. His girl friend thought he was wonderfully brave to take the dare. Sweet girls smiling under large moons on board ship will get young men to do almost anything. Young Mr. Hoyt will learn that men have done crazier things than jump off boats for women.

Lindbergh is lucky again. His plane catches fire, but he is on the ground, about to get out, in Salt Lake City. His mechanic seizes an extinguisher and the blaze is soon under control. The flying colonel didn't think of this hazard when he set off across the Atlantic. The greater the risk, the greater the result. That is how Lindbergh looked at it. He was more careful when he set off than he is now.

Hot Polar Party Bares Story Of Privation

By PROF. ALDOPH ROEL

SHIP KRASSIN, AT SEA, JULY 17.—The tragic details of the march of three survivors of the transpolar dirigible Italia across Arctic ice, of weeks of hunger, cold and exhaustion, and of the death of a selfless scientist were revealed today for the first time by Captain Adolfo Zappa, who was rescued by the Krassin after their companion, Prof. Finn Malmgren, wedish scientist, had died on the barren wastes.

For thirty days the men were on short rations, for thirteen days they were without food. Mariano was snow-blind and ready for death for days. Zappa, weak and freezing, struck off with an ax at polar bears and wild fowl, while the starving Mariano lay on the ice and watched the vain struggle for food.

The story as told by Mariano and Zappa to me follows:

When the three men—Mariano, Zappa and Malmgren—left the ice encampment of General Noble on May 30, they were shrouded in reindeer hide, were without sufficient clothing, and had no fire arms. There was only one blanket in the group. They carried ropes, knives and an axe, but Malmgren's revolver, with which he had killed a bear near the Noble refuge, was left behind.

Two days after they left Noble's camp, Malmgren developed fainting fits and a heavy cold, but he refused to return—he had been the first to insist they could walk to land and started over Noble's protest. Now he believed it would be impossible to retrace his way to the camp.

June 14, Malmgren tottered and fell upon the ice. Zappa vainly endeavored to lift him up, but the Swedish scientist pleaded with them to leave him and seek safety on the land. He told them to take all the food.

Hanneys Will Be Arraigned Before Court

MARTINEZ, July 17.—Arraignment of Mr. and Mrs. William Hanneys of Richmond, parents of "tankhouse baby" several months ago, will take place before Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie tomorrow afternoon at 1:30. It was announced today.

The Hanneys' eight children are being held at the county detention home here pending disposal of the case and it will depend to a large extent on the outcome as to whether or not they will be returned to their parents.

When interviewed today, Mrs. Hanneys said that the whole trouble was due to her husband's "jealous disposition" and that "when he loves me most he hurts me the worst." She also told that she was unable to understand how Hanneys got their children to say the things about her that they did and believes that they were "coached" while she was working in San Francisco for the three days before their arrest.

Mrs. Hanneys went on to say that "to my knowledge nothing has ever been taken in for liquor at 633 21st street" and says that neighbors must have complained because "we had lots of parties there." As to her attitude when brought into court, Mrs. Hanneys said her intention of only "defending myself" and not attempting to say things about her husband which in turn would bring an answer from Hanneys and result in a "long drawn out fight with no one any better off."

"A committee has been appointed from the interested factors to work out the details subject to the confirmation of all actors," the short statement of the meeting also said.

TROOPS ARE ORDERED TO HALT RIOTS

By GESFORD FINE

MEXICO CITY, July 17.—(U.P.)—Orders were issued tonight to troops throughout the republic to report to barracks and to remain in readiness to suppress any disorder.

Stringent orders were issued for the maintenance of peace and prevention of any demonstration which might lead to violence.

All amusement places in the city were closed.

The assassin was reported tonight without confirmation from police headquarters as saying: "I killed Obregon because Christ the King must reign completely, not partially."

Police were of the opinion the murderer's real name is Jose Juan Gonzales, but the prisoner refused to give any other name than Juan.

MEXICO CITY, July 17.—(U.P.)—General Alvaro Obregon, president elect of Mexico, known as the one-armed warrior of Sonora, was shot to death by a carabiniere at 2:20 p. m. today in a little restaurant in the town of San Angel, near this city.

Obregon was at luncheon with a few political friends in the cafe when the assassin, Juan Escudario, entered and asked permission to show Obregon a picture he had made.

As the caricaturist presented the drawing—a sketch of Col. Ricardo Topete, one of Obregon's aides—he pressed a revolver against Obregon's back and fired five shots into his body.

In the subsequent confusion—the music furnished the patrons of the cafe crashed loudly after the sound of the shots—few knew that Obregon was hurt. The general slumped from his chair to the floor and his friends sprang to his feet.

Col. Topete attacked the assassin, and was on the point of killing him when General Roberto Cruz, chief of police, intervened and hustled the man to jail.

News was flashed to the capital and President Calles, Obregon's friend and supporter in his race for president, which he ran alone after two opponents were executed for leading revolts, went at once to San Angel and interrogated the assassin at police headquarters.

The murder of Obregon, in the midst of mourning for Mexico's premier flier, Capt. Emilio Carranza, killed in a crash in New Jersey on his way home from a goodwill flight to Washington, stunned the populace and speculation started regarding the ability of Calles to maintain order. Generally it was believed the president could control the situation. It was expected the congress would vote to continue Calles in office—Obregon was to have taken over the administration on December 1.

Friends of Obregon here, immediately after the death of their chief was confirmed, began a feverish hunt throughout the district for known enemies of Obregon. Their attitude caused the authorities considerable concern.

Meanwhile Calles had viewed his friend's body and personally given directions for maintenance of order. Heavy guards were on duty everywhere to cope with any possible emergency.

The authorities indicated that the assassin would be executed as soon as police had obtained his confession, which it was expected might implicate opponents of Obregon.

FREEDOM OF THE SEAS

What is really in the minds of people in the United States, and what ought to be in the minds of people in the British commonwealth, too, is the question whether in future any naval power, either Great Britain or the United States or Japan, is to be allowed, in waging its own "private" wars, to interrupt the trade of the rest of the world as it is entitled to do under present international rulings. So long as "private" war is not outlawed, and naval powers claim the right to interfere with neutral trade under international law, then naval competition is inevitable. If, on the other hand the naval powers are willing to consider developing a system of international treaties which would limit their own right to declare a blockade to occasions justified by international authority of some kind, then not only would a large reduction of naval expenditure all round seem to be in sight, but a new and vital element would be brought into the problem of world peace.—Round Table, London.

Campaigns without big contributions will come into vogue about the same time as omellets minus eggs.—Boston Herald.

One way to cut down campaign expenditures would be to have both parties nominate nothing but Scotch candidates.

American investments abroad totaled $999,000,000 for the last year. But even if we had a million to spare, we doubt whether we would make it even money.

It is said that the present Panama Canal will be big enough for all purposes at least until 1960. And maybe by that time the boys will be flying across with the freight.

Soviet Russia is said to be facing an acute food shortage. Maybe some of these days it will be up to capitalistic Uncle Sam to help feed 'em again.

BEAUTY

By LAURA LANE

The June bride season is on, and society editors are tearing their hair trying to think of new and adequate adjectives with which to praise the beauty and charm of each bride.

And it isn't only June brides who are beautiful they all seem to be. Even the plainest girl is lovely to look upon as she walks up the aisle to the strains of the wedding march. Why is it? The cynic may sneer "she's happy because she got a man at last" but will not deny such suggestions.

To be very, very practical perhaps, and women are at their best when they are holding hands because they are so much more than usual with their fingers crossed. Each strand of hair is arranged just as it should be. The eyes are bright and the lips are smiling. The complexion is so good, so fresh, so healthy, so beautiful, so unfamiliar, but well known.

The girl who is bubbling over with good spirits, who finds much in life to interest and amuse her is far more attractive than one who is bored—and shows it—or one who broods over her troubles. Sparkling vivacity or happiness lends charm to the homeliest face.

3 SINNERS

Mermaid Comedy. "Plumb Dumb" - Kinogram - Snapshots

SCRIP BOOKS SAVE YOU MONEY

Greater Movie Season Starts August 15th

NEGRI FILM IS BASED ON BIG STAGE SUCCESS

Warner Baxter plays the lead opposite Pola Negri in her latest starring picture, "Three Sinners," which is booked for showing at the California theatre today only.

The story is based on one of the most successful stage plays recently seen in Europe, "Her Second Life." It tells the story of a woman who leaves home to visit her sister. Yielding to the importunities of a friend she goes for a motor ride while the train stands on without her. The train goes on without her. She is wrecked and everyone is killed. Believing her dead, her husband mourns for his wife. The wife, afraid to reveal herself because of the gossip which will inevitably arise relinquishes her home and loved ones.

The denouement of "Three Sinners" is said to be one of the most smashing dramatic climaxes seen on the screen in years. Featured in support of Pola Negri are Paul Lukas, Tullio Carminati and Olga Bacalanova.

Rowland V. Lee, who has directed Pola Negri in a number of her greatest successes, also directed "Three Sinners."

The star of "Three Sinners" never uses make up when in public.

Blessed with a complexion which is absolutely flawless, Pola Negri never uses any kind of cosmetic when appearing in the street or at daytime functions.

Her skin is of that clear, transparent white which is the pride of so many women of Central Europe.

Her eyebrows are naturally very black with a slightly bluish sheen. The natural color of her lips is red which shows very brilliantly against the dead white of her complexion.

In "Three Sinners" as in all her other pictures, Miss Negri uses makeup which simply accentuates her natural complexion.

Other film features include a mermaid comedy "Plumb Dumb," Kinogram-Snapshots.

GRETA GARBO INTRODUCES MOVIE TYPE

According to Victor Seastrom, director of "The Divine Woman," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production coming to the Richmond theatre today, star, Greta Garbo, is responsible for introducing a new type of acting on the screen. The old "vampire" type has been done, but Greta is substituting it with a sort of innocent sophistication which combines all the standards of virtue with the best dramatic qualities of the "vampire."

"She has not appeared in innocent roles by any means, but she has succeeded in playing sophisticated roles in such a manner that she has drawn sympathy for her character, no matter how many of the social or moral standards that screen character violates. Miss Garbo's characters always have such positive redeeming traits that they almost counterbalance the ultra-sophistication of her roles."

Lars Hanson, a distinguished Swedish actor, and Lowell Sherman, American character artist, have the featured male roles opposite Miss Garbo in "The Divine Woman."

Other film features include Buster What Next, Fox news and scenic.

TENDERLOIN

Rose Brennan, beautiful cabaret dancer, becomes innocently involved in the mysterious theft of $20,000 from the Mercier National Bank. The Professor, leader of a gang of crooks, believing that she knows where the money is, corners her in a lonely cottage. She is saved by Chuck White, a member of the gang with whom she is in love. Escaping to the station, she overhears the gang plotting to kill Chuck for double-crossing them. She sets out to warn him, but collapses and is taken to the hospital. The police in the meantime are watching the antiquated store where the Professor has his headquarters.

CHAPTER XX

Within the antique shop one dull, shaded electric light illuminated the long room. It cast into deep shadow the faces of Lefty and Sparrow sitting side by side on the edge of the sofa, their elbows resting on their knees. Timorously they watched the Professor, who loomed back in an easy chair, his left leg stretched out before him. Each time he shifted his position, which he did frequently, resentful of his enforced inactivity, a little grimace of pain crossed his face.

Over in a dark corner sat a fourth person, his hat drawn low over his eyes.

Lefty and Sparrow looked at the boy in astonishment. They almost gasped, so strange, so unnatural, did such words sound, coming from Chuck. Chuck, the youngest of their gang. The daredevil gorilla who had never been caught.

"Aw, jeez, fella, 'ain't quitten' th' racket, are youse?" The Sparrow looked up, his narrow little face one long question mark.

"I sure am, Sparrow, old kid," Chuck returned. "You and me, we've had a lotta fun together, but I'll never forget you, Sparrow, but me, I'm going straight, see?"

"Wot! Goin' straight wif de hooker?" the Mug sneered.

"You shut up, more argu'ments," Chuck took a menacing step towards his captor, who drew back as though frightened.

"Be quiet, you two," the Professor intoned. "We're not going to have any more argu'ments around this joint. We've got a lot more things to think about than this." He looked towards the figure in the corner. "Any dicks out side?"

Lefty got up and moved over to the big front window and drew back the heavy tapestry, allowing a narrow ray of light to shine into the room. He peered around the curtain cautiously and then shook his head.

"Nope, not a soul." He dropped the curtain again and returned to his seat.

"Our very dear friends seem to have forgotten us," The Professor chuckled a mirthless laugh. "Well, so much the better. And now to business." He settled himself back in his chair.

But his mind might not have been so much at ease could he have seen the two detectives waiting around the corner. Simpson and Cowles were still at their post, loitering with a patience that would have tried Job himself. Finally Cowles drew out his watch and looked at it.

"One o'clock," he muttered. "Say it looks like this is going to be the round-up. Tell you what you better do, you better get on up to that hospital and see if they can let the girl out, and you keep right after her. If she makes a beeline for here, so much the better. If she doesn't, call her. On your way send in a call for some reinforcements. Boy, I think we got 'em." He slapped his companion heartily on the back, jubilant over what he believed would be their success.

"All right," Simpson agreed, and started off on his errand.

An hour passed. The street was dull and deserted. The afternoon sun beat lazily down on the old asphalt sidewalks, warming them into an apathetic languor. The clatter and rattle of vehicles passing along the Bowery sent only a faint resonance of sound to the side streets.

Then suddenly Cowles drew back around the corner and out of sight. From where he stood he could see a weary, drooping figure half running, half walking. The girl! So she, too, was on her way as fast as she could get there to this very evident rendezvous. Cowles' heart jumped with joy. He was almost at the end of his hard week of work. It was only a matter of moments now. He was going to get them, and how!

The girl sped past, all unheeding and unseeing. He could almost hear her gasping breath as she went by, so close he was to her. He saw her slow down as she neared the shop of the Professor. He wondered but casually at her seeming reluctance to enter. And then he saw the door open, and the girl disappeared.

NEW HOTEL IN CHAIN OWNED BY HAMILTON

Considerable interest has followed the announcement that the Hotel Miramar at Santa Monica has been acquired by the Hamilton chain, operators of the Hotel Carquinez here. The addition of the new hotel, which is regarded as one of the finest in Southern California, makes the twelfth hotel in the chain. Some of America's greatest hotel chain operators have been negotiating for the acquisition of this hotel but it was not until the legal notices were published that it became known that the Hamilton interests had gained control.

The present Miramar properties have 212 rooms including a modern fireproof hotel apartment building recently erected. The grounds consist of about six acres of what is considered the most beautiful and at the same time most expensive high class beach frontage that was available for improvement in Southern California. It is conservatively appraised at nearly a million and a half dollars by the banking interests of Santa Monica. It fronts on Ocean boulevard and upon the beautiful Palisades park owned by the city of Santa Monica and was the former home of the late Senator Jones of Nevada, nationally known as the last of the silver kings of the Comstock lode. Throughout the grounds are the rarest trees and plants to be found anywhere. The late senator deeded the Palisades park to the city of Santa Monica with the restrictions that no building could ever be constructed in this park that would obstruct the view of the Pacific ocean from the Miramar grounds.

Morgan S. Tyler was quickly installed as resident manager and hardly a ripple was noticed by the throng of guests now at the Miramar. Resident Manager Tyler's appointment will be hailed with delight by countless old time patrons of the Miramar as well as by Southern California and Santa Monica citizens generally. He commenced his hotel training as a kitchen employee in the Alexandria a few years ago, under Joseph Reichel who made the Alexandria famous. It is generally known that Messrs. Eppley and Hamilton have maintained the Alexandria's famous reputation for food ever to a greater degree than even. From the Alexandria Tyler went to the great Drake hotel in Chicago as steward where Bob Elfriz succeeded in employing him as steward of the Adolphus hotel at Dallas, Texas. Later he was manager of several leading hotels in southern cities and several years ago opened the Gables Beach club at Santa Monica as manager. It wasn't long before his ability was noted by various members of the Hamilton organization with the results that when they had a place wherein he would fit he was sent for. He succeeded Edwin H. Lee, who has been manager of the Hotel Miramar since last March. Lee has not yet decided upon his plans for the future.

Pastor-Flier Speeds Plane Over Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore., July 17.—(U.P.)—Over sky-scraping mountains and lowly plains of the "Oregon Country," where a few years ago tired circuit riders plodded their weary way, there now speeds on the wings of the wind a preacher-aviator.

The Rev. R. Robert Crawford of Portland, is an ordained minister of the Apostolic Faith as well as being a licensed pilot. He is assistant over-seer of the Pacific Northwest region of his denomination and flies to the various outposts of his charge in a trim little biplane.

This airplane, believed to be one of a very few if not the only one used exclusively for evangelistic work was purchased by the church to permit rapid travel from central headquarters to various small towns and to cities where ministerial services were needed urgently.

It is a three-passenger American Eagle biplane, equipped with a 125 horse power Radial Ryan-Siemens motor, capable of traveling 110 miles per hour. The Rev. Crawford, who is indeed a "sky pilot" uses it frequently whenever a congregation in any part of his wide territory sounds a call.

The plane, with its gleaming white coat and striking design of a Rising Sun attracts attention wherever it goes. Many a person in isolated towns has been surprised as it swooped to earth and shortly thereafter the handsome pilot started preaching a sermon without hesitating to remove his flying garments.

"Wings of the Morning" is the name of this airplane.

"A pretty name, but why was it selected?" the United Press correspondent asked.

"Read the eighth, ninth and tenth verses of the 139th psalms," Rev. Crawford said.

And, reading, this is what the reporter found:

"If I ascend up into Heaven thou art there: if I make my bed in hell, behold, thou art there."

"If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea; Even there thy hand shall lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me."

It was 16 years ago that R. Robert Crawford, then a tall youth of 22, became an ordained minister in his native California.

Six years ago, after pondering over the possibility of combining flying with preaching, he laid aside the broadcloth for a time and took up an aviator's helmet.

He enrolled in the School of Aeronautics conducted by the Curtiss Southwest Airplane Company of Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Tolstoy's Servant

The servant went to market to buy pears, of which his master was inordinately fond.

"Good fruit," said the master, "or a beating for you!"

There were delicious pears in the market, and the servant selected a dozen of the finest in appearance. But here entered a doubt: Were they equally good in flavor? Would they satisfy the palate as well as the eye? The more he considered the matter the more anxious he became. That beating if the fruit were not satisfactory!

Desperately he bit into one. It was good. But the others?

Recklessly he bit into a second. It also was good. But how could he be sure the merchant was not cheating on those that remained?

In a frenzy he snatched a bite from all in turn; and then in triumph brought the fruit to his master...

DEPOSED STAR OF CHI SOX MAY QUIT BASEBALL

By GEORGE KIRKMAN

Deposed as manager of the Chicago White Sox, Ray Schalk, perhaps the greatest catcher of all time, may be through with baseball.

Although it was made to appear that Schalk resigned his post, there is no doubt that Charles A. Comiskey discharged Schalk as he did most of the other managers who failed to win pennants with poor material.

Schalk does not want to quit baseball, and in his letter to Comiskey said "my connection with baseball remains in the balance." Schalk remains the property of the White Sox and it is within Comiskey's power to do whatever he wishes with his deposed manager. If it is the "Old Roman" whom he can keep Schalk from ever becoming affiliated with another club, but surely Comiskey would not impose that penalty on the man who gave 16 years of his life to the Chicago American league ball club.

Comiskey has been the target of Chicago baseball fans all season, and his underhand methods in dismissing Schalk have not increased the attendance at Comiskey Park.

Only three of the eleven managers of the White Sox have not been "fired" by Comiskey. Clark Griffith, the first manager of the White Sox, gave up the management of the Chicago club after winning the pennant in 1901 to assume the leadership of the New York Yankees. Flander Jones managed the White Sox for a little over five years, retiring in 1908 to enter business. Frank Chance died in 1924 after signing to manage the White Sox.

All of the others were "fired." Eddie Collins managed the Sox in 1925 and 1926 and the club finished in fifth place both seasons. After dismissing Collins, Schalk was made manager of the club, but again the White Sox finished in fifth place in 1927.

Mermaids Of Richmond Lose Swimming Meet To Crockett

MARTINEZ, July 17.—Featured by the performances of Lois Grow, 12-year-old swimming marvel of Crockett, who set two new tank records for girls in the 50-yard and 100-yard free style events, coming within two seconds of the world's record in the former, the Crockett girls swimming team defeated the Richmond mermaids last night in the Crockett tank 34-12 to 33-12.

Old Timers To Feature Oakland Pennant Raising

On Saturday afternoon, July 28, starting at 1 o'clock, the Old Time Professional Baseball players of the past 45 years, are going to stage a game at the Oakland baseball park, preceding the regular Pacific Coast League game, Oakland vs. Hollywood.

Last year the old timers gave a side hit of the season so much so that the ball fans have been pleading for another game. Over 100 old timers were on hand from all parts of California, the majority being stars in their day of baseball, and all received a gratification from the big crowd.

It was a thrilling treat to see that famous old battery of 45 years ago perform as of old—George Van Halten, pitcher and Fred W. Lange, catcher—catching barehanded as they used to do before baseball gloves were invented. Big John Tiedemann, a member of the last championship Oakland team of 15 years ago, brought the crowd to its feet by knocking a regular home run over the left field fence—a number of old timers are going to try and duplicate this home run on July 28.

The championship pennant won last season by the Oaks will be raised for the first time this season by John Tiedemann and Cy Parkin, the only two members of the last championship Oaks ball team now in this district.

The disabled war veterans at the U. S. hospital at Livermore will be brought down in buses and will be guests of the day.

Good Fight Card Is Prepared By Promoter Rossi

A fight card designed to attract wide interest among East bay fans is being lined up by Promoter Joe Rossi of El Cerrito.

Jo. Limas, El Cerrito, and Joe Anderson, San Francisco, will trade punches in the main event of the evening, battling over 10 rounds or less.

Also a boxing that has main event character, will be between George Lopez and Tronch King, the latter being rated as one of the best lightweights on the coast.

Manuel Vasquez will take on Johnny Lawson, while Pastor Manolo, Filipino, will meet Pancho Villa.

Archie Lazar, San Francisco, and Lawrence Guiffre, El Cerrito, will open the card.

U. S. Victory At Olympiad Is Predicted

ABOARD S. S. PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, July 17.—(U.P.)—America can look for another victory at the Olympic games.

That was the word that went out from the S. S. President Roosevelt today as the coaches looked over their material and found it good. The second general meeting of the team was held today, and trainers, who ordinarily are reticent men, were enthusiastic about the chances of the United States.

Confidence was the watchword at the meeting which was attended by all except a handful of the competitors on board. Ten men are lined up, most of them suffering from slight attacks of seasickness.

The swimmers and diving coaches were especially optimistic. Martha Norell, Ethel McGary, Eleanor Holm and Agnes Gossard are showing the same speed in the water pool on deck that they displayed in the Olympic trials. Mrs. Betty Beecher and Helen Meany seem certain to place high among the divers.

Dorothy Poynton of the Pacific Athletic club who celebrated her thirteenth birthday also is counted on for several points. He is the youngest athlete on the boat and one of the most popular.

Stars Increase Lead On First

SAN FRANCISCO, July 17.—(U.P.)—Three contests of the Pacific Coast league were decided by a margin of one run today. Hollywood and Sacramento were among the victors and increased their lead of the circuit.

The Stars beat the Seals 5 to 4 to remain two games ahead of the Seals. The Stars made three runs in the first two innings and the other two in the seventh. Only one runner was on base when Ave. still hit a home run for the Seals.

The heavyweights champion who meets Tom Heeney in the Yankee Stadium on July 26, went through a brisk workout at Loma Vista and Billy Vidabeck, his chief sparring partner, absorbed some stiff blows and handed a few back to Tunney.

FAIR HAVEN, N. J., July 17.—(U.P.)—Now that Tom Heeney is nearing his fighting edge for the championship bout with Tunney he has decided to change his training routine.

Three days ago Heeney's manager announced the Hard Rock would work out at night and use electric lights to get used to the glare he will face when he crawls the ropes at Yankee Stadium.

Then in his stolid English way, Heeney said he preferred to do his training in daylight. The night he said, was made for sleeping.

New Razor Blade Sensation

Marvelous Engineering Achievement by World-Famous Manufacturer Wins Popular Favor

Now the fellows with tough beards and tender skins have no excuse for imperfect shaves. No complaints about old-fashioned razor blades that pull and scrape.

The Valet AutoStop Razor—with the new "VALET" blade—is a shaving wonder. The AutoStop Safety Razor Co., which developed it, have had all the practical experiences that make up a quarter century's devotion to shaving problems.

Introduced to the public a short time ago, this new "VALET" blade has received wide acclaim—and dealers everywhere report unusual sales. The name VALET cut through the blade identifies this shaving marvel. Now you can do your shaving "trick" in less than 2 minutes. The first shave—and many shaves after, with the same blade—brings home to you quite forcefully the fact that shaving can be a pleasure instead of a habit.

Not just a habit—but a pleasure

Try the Valet AutoStop Razor—with the new "Valet" blade. The first, second—even the tenth or fifteenth shave with the same blade, convinces you beyond doubt that before your shaving was only an uncomfortable habit—now it's a pleasure.

Accept No Substitute!

by police guards who refused entrance to all persons except high officials. Newspaper correspondents were not permitted to pass the heavy patrol.

Among the few friends at table with Obregon where he was murdered were Senator Valdez Ramirez, Col. Juan James, and former Foreign minister Aaron Saez, his campaign manager. Only a few others were in the restaurant and so quickly finished that they did not realize at once that Obregon had been killed.

The police hurriedly removed the body and kept the crowds of curious at a distance, while the town was pestered with guards and measures taken to prevent an outbreak by the angered Obregonistas.

LOS ANGELES, July 17.—(U.P.)—A bitter statement concerning the death of General Alvaro Obregon was issued late today by Adolfo de la Huerta, former provisional president of Mexico and enemy of Obregon.

"I lament the passing of Obregon, because I would have liked to have him live long enough to pay for his many sins," de la Huerta said.

He described the general as the most hated person ever imposed upon the people of Mexico.

Washington, July 17.—(U.P.)—Ambassador Morrow informed Secretary of State Kellogg by long distance telephone late today that President-elect Obregon of Mexico had been assassinated.

Morrow said he called on President Calles and acting Foreign Minister Estrada to present condolences on behalf of the United States government and himself.

Kellogg called Ambassador Teller at the Mexican embassy here to express his sympathy at Obregon's death.

Morrow was unable to give the secretary any details of the assassination beyond the mere fact that the Mexican government had formally announced the fact.

SUPERIOR, Wis., July 17.—(U.P.)—President Coolidge telegraphed his condolences to President Calles on the assassination of President-elect Obregon.

The president's message, addressed to President Calles at Mexico City said:

"I have learned with the most profound regret of the shameful assassination of President-elect Alvaro Obregon. I am fully aware of the distinguished service General Obregon rendered to his nation and beg your excellency to accept my deep sympathy and that of the United States on Mexico's loss."

Antioch Beauty Seeks Divorce When Hubby's Promises Fail

MARTINEZ, July 17.—In appearance he was a fine looking gentleman, suave in manners immaculate in dress, and above all extremely polite. He looked so much like what he professed to be that she couldn't help but be impressed. Such is the story of Mrs. Margaret Davis Wilson, 23, nurse to Dr. Fred P. Nerius of Antioch, who yesterday instituted annulment proceedings in the Superior Court of Reno, Nevada, May 3, 1928. The romance began when Miss Davis whom she met on the steamship Yale on a trip to Los Angeles on her vacation this year.

In her allegations for an annulment she set forth these representations that he had fraudulently represented his position in life and seeking abrogation of the marriage vows on false pretensions.

That he claimed that he was a graduate of the University of California hospital at San Francisco, and had medical training in Eastern universities.

That he was in the medical service of the Standard Oil with a salary of $5000, but that he was being made chief of staff on a South America venture of the company at a salary of $15,000.

That he had $3000 in the bank. That he would give her a $700 engagement ring.

That he promised to send her to the university at his expense.

That he presented her with an expensive automobile which turned out to have been stolen.

That he promised to take her on his trip to South America.

Two days after the marriage he left her on the pretense that he had to go to Sacramento to arrange the details of his South American trip. Then she received a telegram from him saying that he was sick in a Sacramento hospital.

Her suspicions aroused, Mrs. Wilson hastened to the capital city and searched in vain for her errand knight. Yesterday she sought freedom from the bonds of matrimony.

The couple were married in Reno, Nevada, May 3, 1928. The romance began when Miss Davis met him on the Yale, while on her way to Los Angeles. He was very good company, made himself graceful, inspired her plans in Los Angeles.

The Premier also instructed the Governor of the Prefecture not to tender his resignation on news of the resignation of Okamura's brother as chief of police of the Station. The brother had resigned because of the blot on the family name.

The General's kindness, however, did not extend to a request his assistant be pardoned and Okamura will be tried shortly for attempted murder and probably will receive a sentence of life imprisonment at hard labor.

CACTI TRANSPLANTED
SAN FERNANDO, Cal., July 17.—An expanse of land in the Pacoima Wash near here has been made to produce desert flowers, many of which, including the cacti are being transferred by tourists to home gardens.

The yellow and pink flowering cacti attract many persons and since the plant readily grows from slips visitors often take home a leaf to be set out.

The plant is protected against animals and the elements by its prickly surface. It is a subject that must be handled with gloves.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking Nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when a stool should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless. It works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

LABOR REPORT SAYS OUTLOOK FOR YEAR GOOD

By LEE GEBHART
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(U.P.)—Labor conditions in June of this year were better than at any time during the last five years and the summer and fall outlook for both employer and employee is "distinctly favorable," Secretary of Labor Davis said in a statement today, based on reports from more than 11,000 manufacturing establishments in 54 industries in all parts of the country.

The report, compiled by the bureau of labor statistics, showed two major increases in the labor situation which are held to be significant by Davis, despite the claims of unemployment raised by the democrats this spring.

This first is that employment in manufacturing was greater in June than in May—when there is usually a slight drop because of the summer slackening of business—for the first time in five years.

The second is that for the first time in six years payroll totals were greater in June than in May.

"In other words," Davis said, "the usual early summer drop did not take place this year. Payroll totals advanced in the same proportion as employment. The maintenance of the present payrolls means that the country has become converted to the idea that good wages mean prosperity."

"This employment report indicates a good tone in the manufacturing industries."

Bandit Nabbed In N. Y. After Lengthy Hunt

NEW YORK, July 17.—(U.P.)—George Williams, alias George Maynard, arrested early today, was identified later as one of two bandits who held up and robbed former Deputy Police Commissioner George S. Dougherty and his party on April 6, 1925, in Los Angeles. The arrest ends a long search carried on by Dougherty after his party lost $20,000 in jewels and cash to the bandits.

Another bandit, Saverio Rovelli, who is serving a 20-year term in Sing Sing prison, gave police the information concerning Williams. Rovelli and Williams were sought in a robbery here January 17.

On January 13, 1927, Dougherty identified George Dash, arrested in a gang round-up here as the other bandit who held up his party in Los Angeles at the home of Major Rone Marx. Dash was sentenced to prison for a restaurant holdup.

Papers found in the possession of Williams indicated a close connection between him and Dash, who is seeking a new trial.

Dougherty said Williams and Dash had robbed many parties in Los Angeles, following their automobiles from theaters or from dances and holding them up at their homes.
